Welcome to the Northfield Area REAL ESTATE GUIDE

Out with the snow – in with the Spring! For many of us, this is the season for some very needed spring cleaning. Personal development career coach Deborah Schmidt-Erickson offers tips for those on the move or staying put (see page 13). And it is the season for home sales. Mary Jo Scanlin of College City Homes points out why now is a great time to buy a new or used home (see page 6). New or used – be sure to follow up with our advertisers and their listings throughout this Guide. Tell them you saw them in the Guide with the flowers on the cover.

Real estate market gives buyers some refreshing options

Glass is nearly full in today's market!

By Mary Jo Scanlan
College City Homes

With all the negative information in the news about buying and selling homes, the glass almost appears to be empty, when in fact it is darn near full!

Buying power has never been greater to buy a new home. Motivated sellers and lenders, combined with low interest rates, make this a great time for buying. Additionally, home sites, materials and labor costs have all gone down.

For many of us, waiting for the mythical bottom to appear in the housing market may be costing us in the long run. Inventory remains high and sales continues to be slow, so many sellers are motivated to negotiate. The current real estate downturn will end and prices will go up again. People that buy in the marketplace today could be seen in the next several years as geniuses because they very well may realize a tremendous gain in their investment.

Waiting could cost you more on your mortgage if rates increase by even 1 percent. Waiting for prices to drop could cost you if rates go up in an attempt to slow inflation:

- $400,000 mortgage at 5.75%, 30-year fixed = a $2,334.00 principal and interest monthly payment

- $380,000 mortgage at 6.75%, 30-year fixed = a $2,464.00 principal and interest monthly payment

This example shows a higher monthly mortgage payment on a lower-priced home due to a simple 1 percent increase in the mortgage rate.

Buying a new home now gives you the best chance for success in getting a home that truly is an investment. Builders are offering incentives on materials, options and land costs as well as help with financing through their long-standing relationships with banks and mortgage companies. They have always been motivated to work with customers who are ready and able to purchase.

There are a lot of homes on the market to choose from. Approximately 20 percent of those are new homes. New homes present several advantages:

- The floor plan can be customized to fit your lifestyle.
- You'll enjoy brand-new everything – appliances, cabinets, floors, windows and mechanical systems, to name a few.
- You can take advantage of the most up-to-date technological advancements in materials to get a very smart living and energy-efficient home.

Ask your builder about their specific energy-efficient building programs. Homes built using programs such as Energy Star homes are 15-25 percent more energy-efficient with lower utility operating costs to save you money every month. Energy prices are at an all-time high and on the rise. Investment in energy-efficient options available in new houses offers better and safer return on your investment than virtually any other financial investment available today.

Local builders are proud to be a part of the Energy Star program and many builders are also part of the new MN GreenStar building program. You will live in a quieter, more comfortable, durable home with healthier indoor air. Your new home will have a higher resale value, lower energy and maintenance costs and use fewer natural resources to build lowering its impact on the environment from the first day forward.

Northfield Guides receive new space visits

By All Means Graphics, publisher of the Northfield Entertainment and Real Estate guides, got double visits recently from the Northfield Chamber of Commerce (in recognition of their recent move to 17 Bridge Square) and the Northfield Downtown Development Corporation (in recognition of their hot-off-the-press "Annual Northfield Music Issue."

Pictured are (l to r): Abby "wanna buy an ad?" Erickson, Nick "but it would look cooler if you added flames to that" Sinclair, Chris "i need your copy NOW!" Bernier, Robert "I could use a donut" Gaul, Rob "talk to my people" Schanilec, Matt "Chamber ambassador" Sewich, Schanilec and Kathy "Chamber executive director" Felbruge. And that would be the Ames Mill reflected

"Spring is Here – Lighten Up!"

By Deborah Schmidt-Erickson, CEG, BA
Personal Development-Career Coach

Spring is here and it's time to lighten up! How can you start? Do the words "spring cleaning" ring a bell? First, in order to be able to get into the corners of your home to clean – declutter, declutter and declutter.

Start by throwing out the physical stuff. Go through drawers, closets, cupboards and storage areas. Keep only what you truly need and love. Toss out anything that clutters your life in any way, shape, or form. If you can't bear to throw something away, consider donating or selling it.

Try it. It's not that hard to get started. You've got ten lipsticks in your make-up bin that you haven't worn in five years – toss them! You have six of the same kind of wrench hanging on the pegboard in the garage. Sell five. Go to your kitchen junk drawer and clear it out – that'll get your engines running. You'll lift your spirits because you won't be weighed down by stuff. Excess holds us back.

Deborah Schmidt-Erickson engaged the professional re-arranger services of Kathy Anderson of Northfield's simply...Aha to tidy up her home. Kathy can be found at www.simply-aha.com or 952/486-1346.

Here's a quick checklist of some basic spring cleaning:

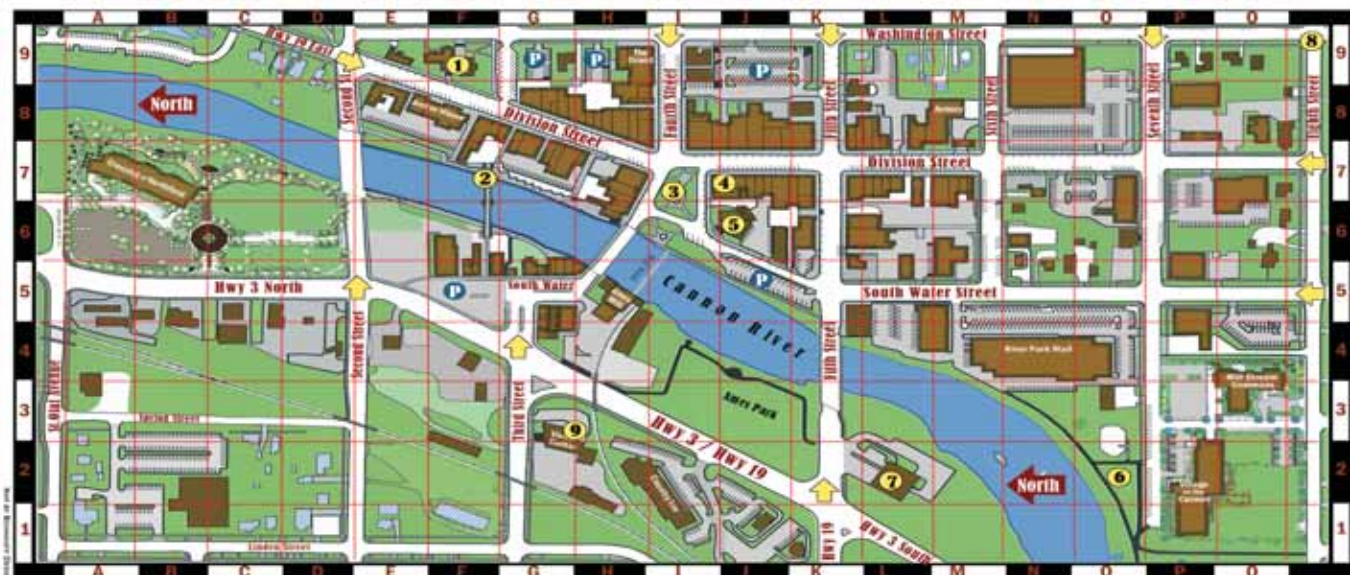

- wash windows and clean window screens
- wash window coverings and shower curtains
- wash walls, door frames, window sills and baseboards
- shampoo carpets and wax wood or tile floors
- clean furniture and spray with a protectant
- wipe down cabinets, inside and out
- wipe down the inside of the refrigerator and defrost the freezer
- clean the oven, burners and stovetop

After you clear the clutter out of your home, you have the breathing space mentally, emotionally and physically to tackle some spring house cleaning. First and foremost, get those windows cleaned! Clean windows can change the whole look of a house.

I'm challenging you this month to clear the clutter and make room for your life. What are you going to throw away? What are you going to let go of? Come on – you can do it. Throw away the debris of the past be it physical or mental. Get rid of the litter in your environment, head and heart. Never keep anything that makes you feel heavy or weighs you down. Take those shackles off. Spring is here – lighten up!
